777 Evening St., Worthington, OH 43085

In this workshop, through clearly explaining concepts in the translation process from a three dimensional environment to a two dimensional surface, I will clear up the mystery, and strengthen your knowledge of the process and visual language of painting, from the source (plein air) to the studio. I teach a 4 pronged visual language approach (Value, Shapes, Edges, and Texture) that is both easy to remember and an effective way of breaking down difficult subject matter into manageable information.

A 4 pronged approach to learning Visual Language:

- 1. VALUE: I will help you comprehend the relationships in your VALUES which includes all of the color discussion.
- 2. SHAPE: We will talk about the importance of SHAPE to design, viewer recognition, readability, and linear perspective.
- 3. EDGES: We'll explore how to see and understand EDGES, both tangible and intangible, and their relative importance.
- 4. TEXTURE: I will demonstrate how different ways of applying paint enhances the viewer experience. This refers to both brushwork, and paint quality.

All levels of experience are welcome.
